

I cannot beleive
what I am hearing
about Sinclair Broadcasting. They
are going to force
their TV stations to
air, during prime
time, a decidedly
anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election.

This is yet another
example of why media
consolidation is a problem. This is one corporation trying
to affect the
outcome of an election.

At a minimum they should be forced to
air a pro Kerry
documentary such as
"Up River" in
response.

Aren't there laws
against this sort of thing? What are you going to do about
it?